

Win a family ticket to the Eden Project

The BVT Summer competition is themed around all things green! And to celebrate this, we have a special family ticket to the Eden Project to give away.

The Eden Project is a living theatre of plants and animals, in a unique environmental complex in Cornwall. A great family day out, this is more than just a big, green, theme park.

What used to be a china clay pit is now a haven filled with wildlife which attracts more than 1.25 million visitors a year. The main highlight is the two giant transparent domes, called Biomes, which re-create different climate conditions showcasing more than 100,000 plants.

Be involved and get rewarded

Being involved in a Tenant or Resident Association is rewarding.

The benefits of working together include:

- You can achieve more than a single individual may be able to
- Giving individuals a chance to become involved in the community
- Helping to understand how Bournville Village Trust works
- Giving people the chance to influence Trust policy
- The chance to meet people socially
- Giving people a sense of achievement and pride in the community of which they are a part.

• There are a range of benefits in working together

Such associations are groups formed by local people who join together to work towards common aims. These groups enable people to work together to improve their neighbourhood, empower those who join with new skills and confidence, and produce a positive community spirit.

Things are picking up for youth club youngsters

• Youngsters helped tidy up the canal area

Over 30 teenagers from Phoenix Hall Youth Club in Bordesley Village took part in a litter pick.

The Youth Club meets every Friday between 5.30pm and 7.30pm. Youth leader Maria Tancred and caretaker Ciaran McNally led the hard working group, which not only picked litter around the hall and square but also tidied the canal area and the doctor's surgery car park.

As a thank you to those that took part, a trip to Ackers Outdoor Centre is being organised.
