

The panel were well aware of the wonderful service the B30 Foodbank has always provided for people in food poverty across south Birmingham.

But during those really difficult times of lockdown the Foodbank had to adapt, change gear and do things differently. They certainly rose to the challenge, providing a delivery service to people in real food poverty who could not leave their homes. So many volunteers helped out, too many to count, and we believe they are all true examples of Bournville community Stars!!

Well done to all at the B30 Foodbank.

From the nomination:

Volunteers from B30 Food bank continued to provide emergency food to the most needy. The organisation changed to a delivery system to ensure food could still be provided. Many of those helping volunteered to use their own cars to deliver food.

One example of the types of comments the Foodbank received:

“Thank you, thank you..... You saved me. I didn’t know what to do.”
