

Reading the nomination, the panel was impressed by Isaias' commitment to bringing a smiling face and some cheer as well as food boxes to neighbours at what was, for many, very lonely times.

From the nomination:

Isaias responded to a call for volunteer delivery drivers for food parcels. He was totally reliable, very faithful and cheerful in delivering. He knew that delivering food was more than just taking a box; it would be a moment of friendship in what was a lonely time for many.

Looking back this was a simple act of friendship and community support but it saved lives and boosted people's health and morale. Isaias is truly a Bournville Star.
