

Many people helped others during lockdown but it was evident to the Panel that Kay had really gone beyond the call to help others. Definitely a Bournville Star for the Bournville community.

From the nomination:

Kay volunteered for the early NHS volunteering scheme but when there was little to do and not to be defeated, she looked around locally and realised she could help through the Hub to take food parcels to those most in need.

She was an exceptionally dedicated volunteer and, despite holding down a job, went out of her way not only to deliver lots of food but also to help people she met who were having a really hard time in lockdown. She really was a star!
